Bridge Bank Provides Financing to Digital Chocolate, Inc.

San Jose, CA – June 8 , 2010 – Bridge Capital Holdings (NASDAQ: BBNK), whose subsidiary is Bridge Bank, National Association, a full-service professional business bank headquartered in Silicon Valley, announced today that it has provided a multi-million dollar revolving line of credit to Digital Chocolate, Inc. for general corporate purposes.

"Digital Chocolate is emerging as one of the new leaders in mobile and social games," said Trip Hawkins, Founder and CEO of Digital Chocolate. "Bridge Bank will help us grow faster. They have confidence in our performance to date and the strong market position we are building."

Digital Chocolate has expanded its mobile and pc gaming platforms to social networks including Twitter and Facebook, with an existing game portfolio that consists of household names such as MMA Pro Fighter™ and Tower Bloxx™. Recently the company announced the release of its first major update to NanoStarSiege™ and the launch of Millionaire City™ on Facebook; and just last week announced that the iPhone version of Rollercoaster Rush™ is now available on BlackBerry devices.

"Trip Hawkins is one of the Valley's true visionaries with Digital Chocolate being a great example," said Ed Lambert, Senior Vice President of Bridge Bank's Technology Banking Division. "We are tremendously excited to provide partnership support for their expansion in the social gaming community."

Forward-Looking Statements

Certain matters discussed in this press release constitute forward-looking statements within the meaning of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995, and are subject to the safe harbors created by that Act. Forward-looking statements can be identified by the fact that they do not relate strictly to historical or current facts. They often include the words "believe," "expect," "anticipate," "intend," "plan," "estimate," or words of similar meaning, or future or conditional verbs such as "will," "would," "should," "could," or "may." Forward-looking statements describe future plans, strategies and expectations. Forward-looking statements are based on currently available information, expectations, assumptions, projections, and management's judgment about the Company, the banking industry and general economic conditions. These forward-looking statements are not guarantees of future performance, nor should they be relied upon as representing management's views as of any subsequent date. Future events are difficult to predict, and the expectations described above are necessarily subject to risk and uncertainty that may cause actual results to differ materially and adversely.

Forward-looking statements involve significant risks and uncertainties and actual results may differ materially from those presented, either expressed or implied, in this press release. Factors that might cause such differences include, but are not limited to: the Company's ability to successfully execute its business plans and achieve its objectives; changes in general economic, real estate and financial market conditions, either nationally or locally in areas in which the Company conducts its operations; changes in interest rates; new litigation or changes in existing litigation; future credit loss experience; increased competitive challenges and expanding product and pricing pressures among financial institutions; legislation or regulatory changes which adversely affect the Company's operations or business; loss of key personnel; changes in accounting policies or procedures as may be required by the Financial Accounting Standards Board or other regulatory agencies; and the ability to satisfy requirements related to the Sarbanes-Oxley Act and other regulation on internal control.

The reader should refer to the more complete discussion of such risks in Bridge Capital Holdings' annual reports on Forms 10-K and quarterly reports on Forms 10-Q on file with the Securities and Exchange Commission. The Company undertakes no obligation to publicly revise these forward-looking statements to reflect subsequent events or circumstances.
